

BAD AIM AVERTS MURDER.

Tipsy Man Attempts the Lives of Two Men in a West New York Lard Factory.

Morgan McMahon, a Discharged Employee, Seeks Revenge Upon the Man Who Dismissed Him.

BULLETS THAT MISS THEIR MARK.

No One Tries to Seize Him, and He Coolly Walks Away—Runs Up the Pallsades Road and Makes His Escape.

Morgan McMahon's poor aim alone prevented a tragedy in the cooperative department of the Wilcox Lard Refinery, West New York, N. J., late Friday afternoon. The cooperative is located at the foot of the Pallsades, and word of the shooting did not reach the authorities until noon yesterday. McMahon was employed in the cooperative until last Tuesday. Then he was discharged for drunkenness. Since his discharge he has been drinking heavily, and several times, as alleged, threatened to kill Foreman Seaman, who discharged him, and Patrick McPhillips, of East Twenty-third street, New York, with whom he had quarrelled. McPhillips worked in the same gang with McMahon and they quarrelled because the latter charged the former with reporting him to Foreman Seaman. Shortly after 8 o'clock McMahon entered the shop. When within five feet of the latter McMahon drew a revolver from his pocket and fired at McPhillips. The latter, who had not seen McMahon approach, had bent over a barrel as McMahon pulled the revolver trigger and the bullet whistled over his head.

At the sound of the shot McPhillips turned. Again McMahon raised the revolver and pulled the trigger. The cartridge failed to explode. McPhillips was so badly frightened that he made no attempt to seize McMahon, and he turned away for the highest taste. None of the other men attempted to stop him. As he reached the door McMahon caught sight of Foreman Seaman. "I'll kill you!" he shouted, and fired directly at Seaman. The bullet lodged in a cask by which the foreman was standing. McMahon did not stop to see the effect of his shot, but ran from the shop and up the road leading to the top of the Pallsades. No attempt was made to follow him. McMahon lives on Herman avenue, Guttenberg.

McPhillips appeared before Recorder Walker in Guttenberg at noon yesterday, and made a charge of felonious assault against McMahon. That was the first indication of the shooting received by the police. The latter has not yet been arrested.

Rev. Mr. Nelson the New Pastor.
The Rev. S. Gifford Nelson has been unanimously called to the pastorate of the Bedford Baptist Church, in Brooklyn. He succeeds the Rev. Dr. Josiah H. Gunning, who was recently sued for a separation by Mrs. Gunning.

Content Over Killon's Estate.
The heirs at law of the late Thomas K. Killon, who lived at No. 68 North Oxford street, Brooklyn, have given notice of a contest for their share of the estate. Before his death he transferred forty pieces of property to his grandniece, Mary Cavanagh, who was his housekeeper.

Preferred to Go to Sing Sing.
Thomas Connolly was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years yesterday by Judge Aspinwall, in Brooklyn. He had been convicted of malicious mischief. The prisoner begged in vain to be sent to Sing Sing instead of the penitentiary.

IT ONLY SHOOK HIM UP.

Little James Crynes, While Flying a Kite, Topped Off the Roof of a Four-Story Building.

Little James Crynes, twelve years old, fell through an area-way from the roof to the basement of No. 330 Bergen street, Brooklyn, yesterday, and escaped death. Young Crynes lives with his parents on the second floor of the four-story building at No. 330. He, with two playmates, Johnnie Connor, eleven years old, and Tommy Dorman, twelve years old, went to the roof to fly a kite.

The boys had worked their way over the roofs of the adjoining houses to No. 330. Crynes was walking backward, holding the string of the kite, when suddenly he toppled over and went down, head foremost, through the area-way, which is about two feet square. In falling he bounded from side to side of the enclosure until he struck the bottom, a distance of fifty feet below the roof.

Mrs. Bedell, who lives at No. 330, picked up the boy, who had been stunned by the fall. Dr. Kinne, of No. 46 Fourth avenue, found that young Crynes had received a bad scalp wound, and his right shoulder, arm and leg were bruised severely. No bones appeared to be broken and the boy soon recovered consciousness and seemed little the worse for his tumble.

"Rock of Ages,"

A Monument to the Great Event of Easter,

Is the subject of an Exhibit rising from the main floor to the third story in the mammoth rotunda of our building. It is the most imposing display of interior store decoration ever produced in America. As you enter the house you will behold four Corinthian columns supporting a triumphal arch with the realistic scene "Rock of Ages." White marble effects, Flowers, Palms, and Easter Lilies are combined to make up a scene beautiful and appropriate to the awakening of Spring and the festive event of the season. All are welcome to view this wonderful work of art.

Easter Store News Now Ready to Be Told.

The time-honored custom of appearing in "something new" on Easter Sunday naturally turns your thoughts to things needed for the adornment of your person and your home.
